HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Dan Square, of Hillcrest, has received his call for the air force as a gunner.

Lance Corp. Freddie Rees, of Edmonton, is visiting at his home here. Sgt. Pilot George Thornton, of Calgary, formerly of Hillcrest, spent a few days of his embarkation leave with his sister Lottie, of Ferris, and sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mackie here. He returned to Calgary and left for a coastal point. Lance Corp. Marx Gryschuk, of Camrose, returned to Hillcrest to visit his parents and friends.

Lance Corp. Chess Cartier was down from Calgary to spend a few days with his family here.

A. Holingshead and family journeyed to Edmonton, where Bob enters the university.

S.A. HOME FRONT DRIVE

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the Salvation Army's appeal in their Home Front campaign. Local canvassers were busy this week in this connection and are meeting with success toward a $500 quota. This canvass will be augmented by a tag day tomorrow, Saturday, September 26th.

The marriage of Mrs. Annie Bates to Mr. John M. Rushton took place at Coleman, on Saturday last.

Postmaster-General Mulock's plea that Canadians send clippings instead of newspapers to their friends and relatives in the armed forces overseas carries a good deal of weight—234,336 pounds to be exact.

ONE BRANCH OF S.A. SERVICE
A Red Shield mobile canteen pulls up at an English airport to give boys of the R.C.A.F. a hot drink and a snack on their arrival back from "a trip." This is but one part of The Canadian Salvation Army's Christian service to humanity... Every Army must have a base, and the Canadian Salvation Army's base, whether for work among the troops in Canada, in Britain, at Dieppe, or among the needy and the sick in this community is the Home Front right here in Canada. It is this base which Canadians will support when they subscribe to the Red Shield Home Front appeal this month.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Harvesting has again been held up by rain.

In spite of several degrees of frost on the night of the 17th, hollyhocks are lending us their stately beauty; goldenglow, summer chrysanthemums and other hardy garden flowers are showing a wealth of blossoms, raising their glorious heads and mocking the king of winter.

Word has been received from Edmonton of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson on the 16th. Mrs. Wilson was formerly Miss Sylvia Evans, of Hillcrest, while Jim is a Coleman lad. He is serving in the Canadian army now.

Attachments offered in addition to the machine may be sold for 60 per cent of the price when new. A written guarantee for 90 days must be given a purchaser by the vendor when a rebuilt machine is sold, and a label must declare that the machine has been rebuilt according to specification.

MASONS CONVENE

The annual session of Masons of Alberta District Eight was held in the United church auditorium on Monday afternoon and evening, presided over by J. R. McLeod, district deputy, with F. P. Galbraith, of Red Deer, grand master, in attendance to address the assembly.

At 6.30 a banquet was enjoyed, served in the church gym under supervision of the Ladies' Aid.

Among the large gathering, which included members from Macleod to Coleman, were a delegation from Fernie, accompanied by F. T. Britney, district deputy in the B.C. jurisdiction. Fred Padgett, of Bellevue, was chosen incoming district deputy and next year's sessions will be held in Hillcrest. Following the sessions here, Mr. Galbraith left on Tuesday morning to attend similar meetings in other districts in Southern Alberta.

VISITING CANADA

General Geo. L. Carpenter, international leader of The Salvation Army, with headquarters in London, England, who arrived in New York by plane late in August and who soon after spent over an hour with President Roosevelt in Washington. General Carpenter, who was chosen for the post in The Salvation Army while in charge of the Canadian Territory in 1939, will visit Canada in September, and will conduct special Diamond Jubilee Anniversary congress meetings in key Canadian cities.

The Blaimore school board finds it necessary to provide assistance for Junior Warner, and are inviting applications from two women assistants. The schools are becoming very much overcrowded.

Youngsters bent on wilful destruction of public property within the city limits of Cranbrook are given fair warning that if they continue their nefarious pastimes, and are apprehended, they will be prosecuted and punished. A number of tricks were played upon the standpipes and sprinkling equipment, as well as the playground equipment, necessitating considerable cost in repair. A similar step must be taken in Blaimore.

The marriage took place at Cranbrook on September 15th of Joyce Bishop, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Wilton, to Leading Writer Norman Edward Carruthers, R.C.N. V.R., son of Mrs. Carruthers, of Calgary, and the late N. E. Carruthers, of Lacombe, Alberta. Following a three weeks honeymoon, Mr. Carruthers is to report to his station at St. John's, Newfoundland, while Mrs. Carruthers will return to Cranbrook, where she is employed in the C.P.R. department of natural resources.

The Gris-Duncan-Lazarenko commission, supposed to have explored the possibilities of the Elk River's future as a fishing resort, were forced by high water to ignore that effort, and instead ventured to the famous "Wigwam" district near the international boundary between Elko and Eureka, Montana. Here they found fish plentiful and returned with fish weighing not more than twenty pounds each, or less than ten ounces. They claimed that fish were biting every minute, except when a Trans-Canada plane passed over.

Thirty years ago, A. W. Robbins, of Blaimore, was overseeing the building of a wagon road through the eastern portion of the Crows' Nest Pass, and had a large gang of men working from Crows' Nest Lake to the Summit. This was supposed to gladden the hearts of automobile drivers. Trees, stumps and stones were being removed, and that once dreaded climb was made somewhat easy of negotiation by a 20-h.p. machine. A new roadway was to be made through the Frank slide, care to be taken to make it of sufficient width to accommodate all kinds of traffic.

According to an advertisement appearing in last week's issue of the Drumheller Mail, a series of meetings are being held in Drumheller and district by Earl Ansley and Gordon E. Taylor, two Social Credit M.L.A.'s. The topic as announced is: "The peace after the war is won." The thought coming to our mind when reading about what these two young chaps were spending their time doing, was that what they, and all the rest of us, should be mainly interested in at this time is to make certain we win the war. A very easy way to lose it is to waste time talking and dreaming about "after the war is won." There is only one job to do now and that is "Win the war!"—Trochu Tribune.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Alban's Anglican church, Coleman, on the evening of Saturday, September 19th, when Kathleen, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hague, senior, of Raymond, became the bride of Roderick Lorne McDougall, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. McDougall, of Winnipeg. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. D. McRae, of Blaimore, and the ceremony was performed by the bride's brother, Rev. John R. Hague. After the service, a supper was enjoyed by the wedding party, which also included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hague, of Picture Butte, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hague, junior, of Raymond. Immediately following, Mr. and Mrs. McDougall left for Edmonton, where they will reside.

Tiny Thompson, last year's goalie with Bellevue Bulldogs, decided to sign up with Duluth. Donnie Dewar was going to Minneapolis and Reg. Mackie to the Calgary Tigers. Blaimore's hockey factory was busy turning them out, good for anywhere on earth.

A local dentist extracted several large pineapples from Councillor McDonald's molar region.

Carl and Walter Smith, Charlie Stewart and W. J. Bartlett returned today from a big game hunting expedition in the North Kootenay Pass.

PASS HISTORY FIFTY YEARS AGO

Ed. Donkin had not yet arrived in Frank.

A fish and game warden was seen delving into a bowl of oyster soup in charge of an undersized fish.

Chinamen and Indians were so muddled up in their studies of the beautiful Turtle Mountain and what might happen it that they didn't know one from the other.

There is every possibility that a number of single men between the ages of 39 and 40 will be called for military training during the 2nd period which gets under way on October 26th.

Germany Must Pay

HERBERT MORRISON, British Secretary of State for Home Affairs, said in a recent speech that rough justice for Germans will have to be tolerated for a while after the war, to make the Nazis pay in part for all the atrocities they have committed in European occupied countries. Rough justice, he added, will be too good for those guilty of the unspeakable foulness that has shamed and darkened the human record in the murders and horrors perpetrated by Adolf Hitler and his followers. Somewhat the same sentiments were voiced by Frank Wolstenclough, President of the British Trade Unions Congress, when he warned British workers that "the Germans will make another attempt to enslave Europe after they lose this war unless they have meted out to them what they have meted out to millions of their fellow creatures."

Nazis Must Be Overcome

These public men have voiced the feelings of the people of the United Nations who are determined that this war will be continued until Germany's military power is completely crushed. When that is accomplished, steps must be taken to ensure that it will not have a chance to form again, and we shall have to face the colossal problem of dealing with a generation of Germans, educated from the cradle in the principles of Nazism. It is now clear that the Versailles Treaty was to the Germans only a respite which allowed them time to prepare to rise again and once more attempt to dominate the world by force. That this was permitted is regrettable, but we can profit by that experience, and the people of the democratic countries 1870, 1914, and 1939, they set out to conquer. Each time they were ultimately subdued, but it was not until twenty or thirty years from now, if science and invention continues to progress at the present rate. There is little doubt but that the German people were behind the governments which led them into wars of conquest, and that they will support their leaders as long as they are victorious. It is the hope of all free people that the present war will see the end for all time of these cruel and vicious conflicts.

Wars Of Aggression

It has frequently been pointed out that in the last eighty years the world has had four times as many wars of aggression. In 1864, 1870, 1914, and 1939, they set out to conquer. Each time they were ultimately subdued, but it was not until twenty or thirty years from now, if science and invention continues to progress at the present rate. There is little doubt but that the German people were behind the governments which led them into wars of conquest, and that they will support their leaders as long as they are victorious. It is the hope of all free people that the present war will see the end for all time of these cruel and vicious conflicts.

The Avro Lancaster

Anything Said Of Its Performance Can Readily Be Believed

We rose with the sun to get out to Rockcliffe to see come in Britain's best answer to Adolf Hitler, but a ground fog there sent it off to Upplands instead. After a cross-country chase we reached Upplands with only a few minutes to spare at the great four-engined Avro Lancaster before it lumbered off to Toronto with a cargo of Government officials.

They say this great bird can carry eight tons of bombs in its belly in addition to the 22 tons it weighs of itself when aloft. Looking at it you'll believe anything they say of it.

Harvards and Yales looked like fleas bustling around this great quacking beetle whose ponderous rubber feet alone must have provoked the rubber shortage. But suddenly she wasn't squatting any more—without any notice, with no pulling away of blocks or waving of flags, the big black beetle moved ahead and manoeuvred around the field to her starting point as nonchalantly as a sleek limousine with a Negro chauffeur at the wheel.

The plane started from the same place as all those other little 'planes start, that drone away all day, and without any particular din or sense of commotion. Moreover, being 102 feet wide and 65 feet long, it didn't appear to be attaining the kind of speed necessary to take it aloft. But at 2,000 feet along the runway, precisely 23 seconds after it started, the big craft eased into the air so gently that its rise was almost imperceptible. Another 67 seconds and it was out of sight, complete with C. D. Howe and his colleagues. For its size and all we could see of anyone inside, it might have carried the Ballet Russe and the Don Cossack choir—Ottawa Journal.

Soon it will be easy to keep up with the Joneses. They won't be able to go anywhere, either.

Trans-Canada Highway

First Cars Have Travelled From East To West

The first cars have driven through from eastern Canada to Port Arthur and the west over the nearly completed road via Hearst and Long Lac. Thus they have brought into the country the first of the Trans-Canada highway, product of many years of dreaming, planning and agitation and the spending of some millions of dollars.

The event, under other circumstances, could have been made the occasion of a big celebration. No doubt it will later on, after construction has been officially declared complete—there is still quite an amount of work to be done—be observed in some suitable way.

Real appreciation of the accomplishment would, however, be seen in the use that would be made of the highway were conditions normal as regards supplies of gasoline and tires. The probability that it would be largely used under normal conditions is increased by the fact that it provides a shorter route between this part of Canada and eastern Ontario than the American routes.

The distance from Port Arthur to Toronto by the Trans-Canada is given as 946 miles. To reach Toronto by the American route necessitates a drive of about 1,200 miles. The difference in favor of cities east of Toronto and including Ottawa and Montreal is much greater.

This mention of the Northern route and the Soo brings up again the old discussion regarding routes. The controversy about Lake Shore route versus Northern route went on for years before the war. . . . The coming of the war found the Northern route nearer completion and decision was made to finish it up as a through road, in spite of the calls for labor and money in the war industries. As a matter of fact it was felt desirable to complete the road so that it could be used as an alternative route in the event that anything happened to the railways which are so important in wartime transportation. This new Trans-Canada road may be said, therefore, to owe its completion at this time to the coming of the war. It is something of a wartime project—Port Arthur News Chronicle.

The cotton that goes into a medium-priced auto would make four army uniforms.

Engineering Students

Western Students Supplement Academic Work By Practical

As a further move toward filling Canada's increasingly serious need for engineers, many undergraduates from universities in western Canada, students in engineering and other scientific courses, have been supplementing their academic work by practical experience this summer at the plants of The International Nickel Company of Canada in the Copper Cliff area.

In line with the program laid down by the Wartime Bureau of Technical Personnel in Ottawa, details of the plan under which the students came east were worked out co-operatively by university faculties and company officials. Impending military and war industry requirements for engineers could absorb many more technical men than Canadian universities will graduate from present enrollments.

In this circumstance, the best contribution which the engineering undergraduate can make is to finish his course. But to use all technical knowledge to the limit of its availability the Wartime Bureau program called for all such students to engage in summer work which is not only essential but which also increases their professional skill and ability after graduation.

As a spokesman for one western university stated: "Training that these students are receiving during the summer is most important." He points out: "The fact that practically all our undergraduates are employed for the summer on essential war work is a tribute to the policy of both government and industry."

To the large body of engineering undergraduates in the nickel industry, western universities have supplied an important group. The field in the Copper Cliff area is not only involves mining operations but also a variety of metallurgical processes. Engaged in it are students from mining, chemical, electrical and mechanical engineering and other allied courses. Under the supervision of outstanding industrial experts and research scientists it links their practical work in western Canada with valuable first-hand knowledge of production in one of Canada's greatest industries.

Australian Scientists

Have Contributed Valuable Ideas To Air Services Of Empire

Australian scientists have played a foremost part in radio location experiments which have proved invaluable to the air services of the Empire. Details of these investigations, as of many other effective Australian scientific contributions to the war effort, must for the present remain secret. There is no secret, however, about the bulletproof armorplate which has been perfected by the efforts of a group of metallurgists associated with a well-known company—armor which is not only more effective than that which formerly was imported, but which is cheaper and is drawn entirely from raw materials available in Australia.

Something Really New

Porridge Parties Have Replaced Afternoon Tea In Scottish Office

Perhaps it won't be much of a surprise if one of these days some fine "porridge party" or other is recorded among the social doings. Porridge parties, instead of afternoon teas, have been held with success at the Government's Scottish office in London. What with blouses about to be rationed the idea may spread. The National Farmers' Union hopes it does to increase consumption of oats.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In Our Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

Several young gentlemen of my acquaintance have dropped out of sight in local circles. No more do they seem at the square dances that have recently become very popular at a dance pavilion not far away. The local "doggerly", where boys and girls who never have any appetite at meal times stuff themselves at odd hours that can't stay in pockets, will have to struggle along without them. No longer, will these particular young gentlemen—three of them—English—three French-speaking—strum their guitars and other musical instruments in my living-room.

No longer, that is, until their first "leaves" roll around and they turn up in uniform, heavier, more erect and broader to the waist—and deserving the admiration of their dancing partners.

They have gone off in several directions, to the Artillery, the Infantry, the Air Force, and to work on the construction of a strategic highway. The girls who have sworn and bicycled and hiked and danced with them all summer set me right when I made some rather acid comments upon the boys who are to be paid almost as much per hour in highway construction as the soldiers and airmen get per day.

"They've been turned down for the Army," was chorused at me, "and, anyway, by the time they pay for board and room and clothes there won't be much difference in their pay." Another point made by the young ladies in putting this old soldier to rights was that the road-makers will probably be in almost as great danger as their pals in uniform.

It all goes to prove two things—that even an old soldier has no right to jump to conclusions—and that there is more than one way to be of service to the Dominion in this fight for self-preservation.

Probably the most illuminating feature of this sudden exodus—and it is a sudden exodus—is the fact that a small company leaves a noticeable gap in the tranquillity that has descended upon those who play the stellar roles.

We older people don't realize the problems with which we have faced our juniors. From our set ideas and politically-muscled brains, we evolve a series of mystifying regulations and conditions. Then we expect youngsters just out of school to understand what we haven't courage enough to tell them when their minds are busy trying to adjust themselves to a life that has none of the protection with which we surround their school days.

Put yourself in the position of a teen age boy. If suddenly you become conscious of a world that is peopled mostly by contemporaries in uniform. He learns that a khaki uniform minus a word "Canada" is the badge of the "draftee."

Others in khaki, but wearing "Canada" are volunteers. They will be accepted at the age of eighteen but will not go overseas until they are nineteen.

But if they do not volunteer they will not be called until they are twenty.

What shall he do? We can't tell him. We should be able to tell him what we want. We are the people, aren't we? We govern the country, don't we?

We've got to wake up. If we are going to ask our young gentlemen to enlist to save us from an enemy who will spare no-one the least we can do is to make quite clear what we expect of them.

That's why I say that the most illuminating feature of what has been happening in our village is the descent of tranquillity upon the young gentlemen. There are no perplexities left for them.

Now they are in uniform the Personnel Selection Directorate will see to it that they are employed where they fit in best—which means they will have greater opportunities for advancement and promotion than was the lot of the private soldier before this war. They have no decisions of a major character to make. They are doing their duty and are in the hands of men trained to employ them to the best advantage, men who know that their own future, their own safety, their own lives will be in the hands of these youth they are training.

What about us? We are older. By now the perplexities of life should not be as troublesome to us as they are to the 'teen age world.

We can't rely upon an administrative and training staff to direct our activities into channels where we

HOW WE RECOMMEND ALL-BRAN TO ALL OUR FRIENDS

Says Mrs. Joseph Fure, Montreal, Quebec: "I find KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN much more satisfactory than pills or powders. Nearly all our family suffered from constipation. Our friends suggested pills and powders, but relief was only temporary. Now we eat ALL-BRAN regularly and recommend it to our friends. Instead of waiting until you suffer and then doing yourself with harsh purgatives, try ALL-BRAN's "Better Way" to correct the cause of constipation due to the lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet. Eat it daily and drink plenty of water, but remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like a cathartic; it takes time. ALL-BRAN is sold at your grocer's in two convenient size packages; at restaurants in individual serving packages. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

can be of the greatest service to our country and, therefore, to ourselves. Which makes our duty all the plainer!

Our duty right now—and perhaps we'll think more about duty and less about ourselves now that casualty lists take up several columns of a daily paper—is to do everything we can to back up these young gentlemen in uniform.

It is a duty that is simple enough to perform. All we have been asked to do is to conserve vital essentials to aid in winning the war. Some things we have been asked to do. Some things we have failed to do.

The result of our failures shows in such things as prosecution of hoarders, cheating store keepers, chiselling landlords and their ilk.

What doesn't show is that—some of us must be equally guilty in many of these cases prosecuted for our safety by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. There can't be an illegal sale without an illegal purchase any more than there can be an illegal purchase (hoarding) without an illegal sale.

Back the soldiers up? Sure we can!

The Individual Citizen's Army can see to it that the regulations planned to defeat wartime inflation are observed—both by themselves and others.

These young gentlemen are protecting us—let us protect them.

The Brandon Sun thinks it knows what's the matter with Gandhi: it's something he didn't eat.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

FAULTS

If we were faultless we should not be so much annoyed by the defects of those with whom we associate.—Fennelon.

Ten thousand of the greatest faults in our neighbors are of less consequence to us than one of the smallest in ourselves.—Whately.

New Gasoline Rationing To Come Into Force

Ottawa.—Establishment of a new gasoline rationing category for all persons using a car for personal transportation and not for business, reducing the motor fuel available to them, will be effective Oct. 1, Munitions Minister Howe announced in an address over a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation national network.

The minister said submarine attacks have caused "colossal" damage to oil tankers, reserves of gasoline are about 20,000,000 gallons less than a year ago, and stocks of crude oil and unfinished products are about 40,000,000 gallons less.

Those to be moved into the new "AA" category are users of cars for other than essential purposes and who can best do without a car if the gasoline supply situation continues to deteriorate, the minister said.

Category "A" will permit the purchase between Oct. 1 and March 31, 1943, of 16 units for cars in class one—the lighter type; 18 units for class 2—the medium-size; and 20 units for class 3—the larger types.

The gasoline unit is three gallons in the maritimes, four in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia and five on the prairies.

In the present category "A," a driver is entitled to 60 units a year and in the six months from Oct. 1 to March 31, could get 30 units, almost double the "AA" allowance. In category "A" the driver with a class two car may receive 34 units every six months and in class three, 38 units.

Everyone who depends on fuel oil for heating this winter will do so at his own risk since the supply of this fuel is more precarious than it was in the summer, said Mr. Howe, adding:

"In the month of July, not one ocean tanker reached Halifax.

"Let us not discount the impact on Canada of submarine warfare."

He could give no assurance there would be sufficient oil for winter heating. If sufficient oil could not be brought into Canada, oil installations that could be converted to coal would be the first to be deprived of supplies.

Car drivers who had already been moved from a higher to a lower category for gasoline rationing will not be moved into category "AA." The new category coupon book would not contain more coupons than the book of higher category which might be turned in. Notices will be mailed to those being transferred to the new category.

"You must understand now, that when your coupon book is exhausted your motoring is finished until April 1 of next year," Mr. Howe said.

"No supplementary book can or will be provided. To do otherwise would make rationing meaningless. Also, please keep in mind that the coupons you do not use are a valuable contribution toward solving Canada's gasoline problem."

There could be no hope of the motorist obtaining tire replacements for other than the most necessary war uses.

"Therefore, for your own protection, as well as for the good of the country, I urge all of you who can do so, to lay up your cars in the winter months," Mr. Howe said.

"By so doing, you will accomplish much to insure an adequate supply of gasoline for your motoring next summer. When your car is laid up, the transit controller will find some means for your conveyance to and from your work."

"The brutal fact" was that while gasoline reserves were lower, the demand was increasing because of the quickening tempo of the war, while sources of supply grew smaller month by month.

BRAZIL HELPING

Sea And Air Forces Are Fighting German Sub Menace

Rio De Janeiro.—President Vargas ordered general mobilization throughout Brazil.

Brazil declared war against Germany and Italy Aug. 22 after incurring heavy losses from Axis attacks on her merchant shipping.

Since then Brazilian sea and air forces have been helping the Allies combat the enemy sea menace.

The general mobilization extends steps already taken by the Brazilian government which have put the nation on a military basis.

Brazil could place 250,000 trained infantrymen in the field.

START DEPORTATIONS

Nazi Conquerors Of Luxembourg Wielding Big Stick

London.—The Nazi conquerors of Luxembourg are beginning deportations in efforts to stop anti-German activity in the little grand duchy, a Reuters despatch from a German frontier point reported. The despatch said Nazi commissions are compiling "black lists" of Luxembourgians known to be loyal to the grand duchy, and it was reported reliably that the first batch already has been rounded up.

The Germans were quoted as saying they are prepared to deport the entire population (298,913 in 1938) if necessary and bring in German workers to keep the iron mines running.

More Air Raids Against Hitler Are Necessary

London.—Air experts pointed to approaching bad weather, and a consequent drop in the number of days for bombing operations as increasing the need for immediate concentration of thousands of British and American bombers for an "air blitz" against Hitler.

Even as the R.A.F. added Bremen to its "select" five cities which have been added 100 times or more, these informants said that if the German war machine is to be "softened by spring" the Allied air forces must be able to throw hundreds—even thousands—of bombers into single actions every flying day.

The weather axiom holds particularly true for high-flying American Flying Fortresses which have made a good start in initial raids upon the continent.

"We must have good weather for Fortress precision bombing and the only way to make up for the lack of the number of days of operation is to pour more planes into a single attack," said one air authority, whose name could not be disclosed.

Such attacks, he added, also reduces the percentage of casualties among attacking forces.

Because American bombing raids have been on a small scale, the German air force has been able to concentrate practically every fighter along the invasion coast on stopping them.

Concentration of Anglo-American air strength for an all-out assault against Germany this winter has been hampered, experts agree, by dispersal of planes to India, Egypt, China and other fronts.

The belief that Germany could be dealt a mortal blow from the air was expressed by Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris recently when he said the Nazis could be knocked out of the war if 1,000 bombers could be sent on each raid.

The bombing pattern of the R.A.F., now supplemented by precision blows of the Flying Fortress and swift daylight forays by Bostons, has resulted in more than 100 attacks on each of five German or Nazi-occupied inland cities and ports since the war's start.

FUR FARMING

Making Important Contribution To The War Effort

Ottawa.—The fur farming industry of Canada is relatively prosperous and is making a substantial contribution to the war effort by bringing in foreign exchange through sale to the United States, C. D. Lang, of Winnipeg, editor of "Fur of Canada," said here.

He is attending a meeting of the Dominion Council of Fur Breeders which has been in consultation with government officials and problems relating to labor, military service and food supplies.

Mr. Lang said there had been some concern about profitable markets for mink, but improvement had been noted recently. Lower grades were being used in the manufacture of army clothing, including maps.

J. E. Crawford, of Fort William, was re-elected council president. Archibald Campbell, of Saskatoon, was named third vice-president and secretary.

ANOTHER LIDICE

Quebec Municipality Is Taking Name Of Czech-Slovakian Village

Freilighburg, Que.—This municipality about 40 miles south of Montreal will soon change its name to Lidice in homage to the Czech-Slovakian village savagely razed to the ground by the Nazis last July. Freilighburg has a population of 531.

Lidice, near Prague in Czechoslovakia, was completely destroyed by the Nazis during the night of last July 9-10. Many were killed and more were deported.

Two weeks after that occurred, a new Lidice was officially opened in the state of Illinois. A town in Mexico has also changed its name to Lidice.

WARNS PETAIN

Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber of deputies of the French republic, who, with Jules Jeanneney, president of the French senate, has signed a letter, written in the name of the French parliament, accusing Marshal Philippe Petain of assuming an unlimited dictatorship and warning him not to try to draw France into war against "our Allies". The letter indicates that France is facing its greatest crisis since its fall in June, 1940.

BELGIAN PATRIOTS

New York.—BBC said that Belgian patriots have blown up a power station in Jumet. Iron works and rolling mills nearby had to close down as a result of the damage and the coal production of the district was noticeably affected.

Tokyo.—Masayuki Tani, president of the board of information, was named Japanese foreign minister to succeed Shigenori Togo, who resigned Sept. 1.

SAVE EQUIPMENT

Radio Stations To Sign Off At An Earlier Hour

Ottawa.—Canadian Broadcasting Corporation network, will sign off the air at 11:30 p.m. local time in all regions beginning next Sunday.

This is announced by the CBC general manager, Gladstone Murray, who says the move is designed to reduce wear on equipment.

Murray says that such a reduction of broadcast operations in each time zone across the Dominion will lengthen the life of a large amount of equipment, some of which can't be replaced.

He says that the early sign-off will be put into effect at all but one of the broadcasting stations owned or operated by the CBC. These are CBL and CBY, Toronto; CBO, Ottawa; CBF and CBM, Montreal; CBV, Quebec; CBJ, Chicoutimi; CBT, Vancouver; and CBE, Watrous, Saskatchewan.

He added that on some nights it will be necessary to operate for the extra half hour to midnight at CEA, the maritime province outlet for the CBC at Sackville, New Brunswick.

NO STEPS TAKEN

But Canadian People May Soon Have Some Meatless Days

Ottawa.—The wartime prices and trade board admitted that meatless days may soon have to be introduced in Canada to offset the beef shortage, British United Press reported.

Up to now the board had vigorously denied rumors that meatless days were in prospect for Canadians, but the announcement admitted that such a measure was under consideration. However, the board pointed out that no definite steps have yet been taken and the measure is only under consideration.

Plans Trouble For Rommel In Egypt

Lieut.-Gen. B. L. Montgomery, commander of the British 8th Army charged with the defence of Egypt, is shown here as he discusses a tactical situation facing the 22nd Armored Brigade facing the Nazis in the western desert. Under Montgomery's brilliant leadership Allied troops have stopped the Nazi General Rommel's drive toward Alexandria and Cairo cold, and have driven them back beyond the starting point of their last attack. Standing just behind and to the left of Montgomery is Lieut.-Gen. Horrocks.

Greets Soviet Sniper

Lieut. Liudmila Pavlichenko, young woman Soviet sniper, whose heroic exploits against the invading Nazi armies won her the Order of Lenin decoration, is shown getting a healthy handshake and a pat on the back from Mayor LaGuardia, in New York. Lieut. Pavlichenko is credited with having destroyed 309 Nazi officers and men during eleven months of action on the Russian front.

TO SAVE MATERIAL

Montreal.—Admiral Sir Max Horton, No. 4 has announced that Canadian active army men serving in Canada may soon wear overalls for normal routine military training and other duties. The move was considered to conserve stocks of serge materials.

DOING GOOD WORK

London.—Admiral Sir Max Horton, chief of Britain's submarine service, said that British submarines have sunk 300 enemy supply ships and sunk or damaged 87 German and Italian warships since the start of the war.

Would Recruit Yugoslav Troops For War Roles

Ottawa.—Special and probably dangerous war roles await the Yugoslav troops whom Col. D. P. Savitch hopes to recruit in Canada.

He is looking for men to reinforce Yugoslav air force squadrons fighting with the R.A.F. in the Middle East and Gen. Mihalovic's tough army which is still battling the German occupation forces in the homeland.

Just how men who may be recruited and trained in Canada can reach and join the Yugoslav army at home is something he is not talking about for obvious reasons.

Col. Savitch has come to Canada on a military mission. He now is trying to find what Yugoslav citizens who may be fit and available for service are in Canada with a view to asking them to join the army and report for training at Windsor, Ont. A similar survey is being made in United States.

Col. Savitch was chief of staff of his country's air force when the Germans attacked Yugoslavia in the spring of 1941. He was not home at the time as he was plenipotentiary at the signing of the Russian-Yugoslav non-aggression pact in Moscow and the country was over-run before he got back.

Since then he has devoted himself to the activities of Yugoslav forces outside the country and their chief problem is men.

The problem of supporting Gen. Mihalovic is also a vital one for the Yugoslavs, he said. Weapons, munitions and supplies are needed and this is one of the factors the Yugoslav government has in mind in recruiting men in Canada and U.S.

Some of them may be trained in parachute work. They will be given instruction which will enable them to go to certain places and carry out certain duties which they alone, by reason of their speaking the language of the country, could perform.

"Because our forces are still fighting in Yugoslavia infiltration can be carried out more efficiently there than in other parts of Europe," says Col. Savitch.

Price Ceiling Control Must Be Maintained

Ottawa.—With a year of price-ceiling control almost completed, Donald Gordon, chairman of the wartime prices and trade board, said that adjustments to meet cases of extreme hardship and seasonal factors have been made and the board "now proposes to resist any further claims in this respect."

In his statement Mr. Gordon said that "what has to be fought now is an assumption in any quarter that the battle against inflation has been won."

"The threat of a disastrous inflation is as real now as it ever was and the danger will be ever-present under conditions of war."

Any thought that Canada could relax controls enforced to prevent a runaway rise in the cost of living was based on "fallacious reasoning," he said.

The heavy taxation imposed in the 1942-43 budget, coupled with the likelihood that the U.S. would enforce an over-all control of wages and farm prices, bringing their price ceiling policy into harmony with that of Canada, had given rise to suggestions that Canada would be able to allow a breathing spell in its policy of price control.

"Nothing can be more dangerous," he said. "Now, more than ever before, we need the utmost determination to keep prices stabilized."

Without knowing it, Canada just a year ago began laying the foundations of the price control legislation which has been effective since Dec. 1.

The prices charged throughout the Dominion in the period from Sept. 14 to Oct. 11, 1941, are basically the ceilings on costs which have to be borne by the average Canadian in the business of living.

Wartime prices and trade board officials said that in general the ceiling holds, although in some cases adjustments had to be made to meet special circumstances and to ensure adequate supplies would be available.

Londoners still leave their gas masks in public conveyances at the rate of 400 weekly.

INTERNATIONAL PARKS OF PEACE

The International Peace Park is the popular name given to an area of 1,754 square miles of mountain terrain lying across the boundary of Alberta and Montana. Here is a boundary line which joins, not separates, two nations and two peoples and which symbolizes the spirit of goodwill and understanding which for well over a century has characterized the relations between Canada and the United States.

The Waterton-Glacier International Peace Park was established in 1932 by Presidential Proclamation, as authorized by the Congress of the United States, and by concurrent action in the Canadian parliament. On that happy and historic occasion the following message from the president of the United States was read: "The dedication of the Waterton-Glacier International Peace Park is a further gesture of the goodwill that has so long blessed our relations with our Canadian neighbors, and I am gratified by the hope and the faith that it will forever be an appropriate symbol of permanent peace and friendship." Similar, and no less sincere sentiments, were expressed in the Canadian House of Commons and throughout the Dominion. The lofty concept which brought about a union of these two contiguous national parks was inspired by a genuine desire not only to commemorate, but to permanently perpetuate the long existing period of peace, goodwill and harmonious relationships which has prevailed between the peoples and the governments—culminating now in an ever closer union in the common cause of freedom.

The Waterton Lakes section of the International Peace Park is a place of considerable historic interest as well as superb scenic beauty. The region was once a rich hunting ground, the home of the Indians and the buffalo. Along its forested slopes have passed in turn Indians, trappers and traders in the great cavalcade of events of bygone days. The old Indian trail from Waterton district to the Flathead country in British Columbia led over the south Kootenay Pass, which in time of peace was the avenue of commerce. During the Indian wars this entrance to the Rockies was a fateful spot, and many a bitter conflict took place in the very shadow of Mount Blakiston. Later came the days when the great west was a wide land of cattle ranches, and the secluded valleys of Waterton became a favorite hiding place for the stolen herds of cattle rustlers.

Towards the end of the last century the Waterton Lakes area, which had now become a popular camping and fishing resort, was set aside as a public reservation. An area of 54 square miles surrounding the Upper and Lower Waterton Lakes was established as a national forest on May 30, 1895, and for many years was administered as the Kootenay Lakes Forest Reserve. In 1910 the area became known as the Waterton Lakes National Park, and later its boundaries were extended both east and west to include 220 square miles. A park warden service was inaugurated for the protection of forests and game, and orderly development, including the construction of roads and trails, has been carried out ever since.

Long since the warring Indian tribes have buried the tomahawk and smoked the pipe of peace; the "Scarlet Riders of the Plains" have brought law and order to the region; wild animals roam unmolested. Great herds of elk wander freely back and forth across the "border," spending the summer months in the high altitudes of Glacier Park and using the lower slopes in the Waterton section as their winter range. The restful flower-bedecked valleys of Waterton Lakes National Park have now become an international playground and its lakes and streams are an angler's dream. Its multi-colored mountains beckon to the adventurous climber, and its winding trails lead the rider, on sure-footed mountain ponies, to places of unbelievable beauty and interest. Hiking, cycling, boating, or just "lazing" for a few days in the wilderness solitudes of this sanctuary of peace help to create a sense of well-being that fortifies both mind and body for a renewal of the epic struggle for freedom, to which both Canada and the United States have dedicated all their resources—human and material.

He enlisted in Winnipeg in July, 1915, and went overseas as a private. He was commissioned lieutenant in 1918. On demobilization he was transferred to the reserve of officers. He was promoted major in 1922 and lieutenant-colonel in 1928. In September, 1940, he was appointed Assistant Judge Advocate General, Military District No. 10, Winnipeg, with the rank of captain in the Canadian Active Service Force and shortly afterwards was promoted major. He held this appointment until he was appointed commissioner of internment operations. ## The Value of Your Local Paper in Local Business

THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE plays an important part in all local affairs. It employs wage-earners whose homes are in the district from which it secures business. These wage-earners pay taxes, support various churches, make their contributions to local appeals, take part in community organizations, and spend most of their wages with local merchants. It is no idle boast that The Enterprise has been the means of giving well-directed publicity to this town and district.

THERE is no business institution which gives so much free service as a local newspaper. Were a merchant asked to give the equivalent in goods that the newspaper gives in free service to all organizations, he would find it impossible to meet the demands.

WHEN money is spent for printing or advertising with your local printing office, you are helping local printers to help you. You make it possible for them to serve you better. Out-of-town printing salesmen take money out of the community—pay no taxes, buying nothing from local stores, getting all they can and not caring whether you sink or swim.

AS MERCHANTS expect customers to be loyal to their own community in buying goods from them, so might merchants remember they, too, should follow the same ideals in regard to their local printing office.

IT'S GOOD BUSINESS FOR ALL OF US!

CUSTOMER goodwill in this town and district can best be developed by regular advertising in your community newspaper. The money spent for advertising and printed matter goes back to local merchants in increased trade.

YOUR dollars do double duty when spent with your local newspaper—they help you directly and others indirectly.

18th CENTURY PROPHECY

(By Thomas Gray, of "Elegy" fame in 1737)

The time will come, when thou shalt lift thine eyes
To watch a long-drawn battle in the skies,
While aged peasants, too amazed for words,
Stare at the flying fleets of wondrous birds:
England, so long mistress of the sea,
Where winds and waves confess her sovereignty,
Her ancient triumphs yet on high shall bear,
And reign, the sovereign of the conquered air.

Nellie: "Well, too busy, I suppose."

INSTRUCTIONS

What to Do in Case of An Air Raid

1. As soon as bombs start dropping, run like hell. It doesn't matter where as long as you run. If you are inside a building, run outside; if you are outside, run inside.
2. Take advantage of opportunities when air raid sirens sound attack warning, for example: (a) if in a bakery, grab a pie; (b) if in a tavern, grab a bottle; (c) if in a movie, grab a blonde.
3. If you find an unexploded bomb, always pick it up and shake it; the firing pin may be stuck.
4. If this does not work, place it in the furnace. (The fire department will come later and take care of things, if there are any).
5. If an incendiary bomb is found burning in a building, throw some gasoline on it. You can't put it out, anyhow, so you may as well have some fun.

6. (a) If gasoline isn't available throw a bucket of water on it and lie down, you should be dead; (b) the properties of the bomb will free the hydrogen from the water with rather rapid combustion (in fact it will explode with a helluva crash).
7. Always get excited and holler bloody murder. It will add to the fun and confusion and scare hell out of the kids.
8. Drink heavily; eat onions, limburger, etc., before entering a crowded air raid shelter. This will ensure you a little privacy.

9. If you should be the victim of a direct hit, don't go to pieces.
10. Knock the air raid wardens down if they start to tell you what to do. They will always save the best seats for themselves and their friends anyway.

11. If the air raid shelter should be hit, make sure you get the right size of feet to fit your boots when pulling yourself together.

THE NEW CREED

I will start anew this morning with a higher, fairer creed,
I will quit this fool complaining of my next door neighbor's greed.

I will cease to sit repining while my duty's call is clear.
I will waste no moments whining and my heart shall know no fear.

I will look sometime about me for the things that merit praise.
I will search for hidden beauties that elude the grumbler's gaze;

I will try to find contentment in the path that I must tread,
I will cease to have resentment when another moves ahead.

I will not be awayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown,
I will not deny his merit, but I'll try to prove my own;

I will try to see the beauty spread before me, rain or shine;
I will cease to preach your duty, and be more content with mine.

Food Value In Fish

When Digested About 90 Per Cent. Absorbed By Blood Stream

Among the satisfying things scientists and food experts have discovered about fish is that from 85 to 90 per cent. of it when digested is absorbed by the blood stream. Fish supplies a complete protein food. It contains the materials necessary for body building and repair. Sea fish should be included frequently in the diet because of its iodine content. Fish generally contains excellent proportions of other minerals including calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, iron and copper.

New York Harbor Lacks Colorful Movement Of Peace Time

War has brought new changes to the great harbor of New York. No. 1 port of the world, where once speedy ocean liners sailed with the luxury passenger trade and busy freighters carried the imports and exports for almost half the nation, says Wide World.

No longer do the sleek, brightly painted passenger vessels move slowly up the Hudson River with gaily waving crowds at the rail. If they come at all they come in battle dress, and secretly.

Passenger traffic to Europe, South America, Bermuda, and the Pacific has ceased. The last regular lines, the Portuguese and Spanish ships, have moved south in deference to the German announcement that New York was now blockaded.

No longer do the hundreds of freighters bring their cargoes of spice and coal, of fruit and wool, tea, lumber, coffee, and cotton to the wharves that gathered their freight and stuffed them again with wheat and machines for the world.

Some still come occasionally in the secrecy of convoys, but you have only to walk through the streets along the Hudson River or the East River to see the empty piers that once housed millions of tons of freight a year.

The port is not dead. There is military and naval activity as at every port, but the activity is considerably less than it was in the last war when the harbor's facilities were used to the utmost.

Typical are the longshoremen, whose union officials estimate that 50 per cent. are out of work. In the last war longshoremen were so busy they were able to give jobs to workers from other unions.

Counteracting Force

Has Been Set In Motion By Aggression Of The Nazis

The New York Times says: The Nazis are shrewd. They make skillful use of the technique of the warfare of words and of the war of machines. In the light of three years of war they are not more than shrewd. It is not in Nazi nature to be wise. Wisdom would have remained for attacking the United States. Wisdom would have known that the Germans are not numerous enough or gifted enough to rule the world. Wisdom would have learned from Germany's own philosophers that when you set an aggressive force like Nazism in motion you bring into being the force that will counteract it.

The counteracting force is gathering strength day by day. It is growing inside Hitler's lines as well as outside them. It is growing faster than any possible Axis victories, in Russia, Asia or Africa, could whittle it down. The Second World War has lasted longer and spread farther than Hitler planned. When he failed to end it or limit it in 1940, and again in 1941, he was, perhaps, the victim of his own movement. But his failure sealed his, and the movement's ultimate doom.

Boys In Middle East Find Octopus Makes Great Food

The octopus, which has terrified youngsters in under-water thrillers and is regarded as one of the most sinister perils of the deep, is proving very useful in the Middle East.

The boys fighting out there are getting a new slant on this unattractive creature. A letter from a member of the Royal Army Service Corps describes with gusto the hunting and cooking of the octopus.

"We use a two-pronged barb spear and spear the creatures as they lie in wait in rocky pools. . . When baked and dressed they taste like crab. Only the small ones, about two feet in size—are used by the Greeks, and it is a favorite dish with them."—Toronto Telegram.

On The Home Front

German People Facing Hard Winter Are Weary Of War

Hunger, war-weariness and depression are growing on the German home front. Germany, and together with it, the occupied countries of Europe, face the prospect of a winter grimmer and more terrible than any since 1918. German cities, one by one, are being laid in ruins by the new fearful striking power of the Royal Air Force, greatly augmented by bomber fleets from the United States.

In the east, the Nazi Wehrmacht is locked in a struggle to the death with the Soviet Union. Throughout the conquered countries of Europe, overrun in the past three years by Hitler's armed forces, unrest and even open revolt are spreading among the peoples whom Hitler is seeking to budge into his Nazi "New Order" system. In the West, German garrisons wait uneasily for the second front which the armies of Great Britain and the United States may open at any moment.

Hitler and the other Nazi chieftains know their only hope today of avoiding defeat is to crush completely the military power of Russia in the days still left before his armies are immobilized again in the frozen horror of a Russian winter.

The German home front today is enduring hardships—to some extent even privations—in a comparable way with those of 1917-18. The food situation is deteriorating alarmingly and critical shortages are almost certain this winter. The situation can be summarized as follows:

1. One of the most disastrous harvests in years is expected.
2. Germany is suffering the worst shortage of potatoes and vegetables since 1918.
3. The fruit crop has been almost completely ruined.
4. The shortage of fats throughout Germany and the occupied territories this winter will be more critical than at any time since the outbreak of war.

Normally food conditions in Germany show a marked improvement during the summer. This summer they have been little better than last winter, which foreign residents in Germany agreed was the grimmest since the World War. Potatoes were rationed for the first time in this war, but in Berlin and many other large German cities they were unobtainable for weeks on end. Vegetables, normally plentiful in summer time, are so scarce this summer that strict rationing had to be put into operation.

Armed For Victory

People Of Britain Have Produced The Weapons They Need

The lessons that the Russians have learned in a year of constant battle, we are learning now in the "only school where they can be learned" in battle. The British people have produced the weapons needed. They have built up the greatest air force in the world alongside the greatest navy. They have produced land war weapons in such numbers that with only 20 per cent. of their output they have made Britain the best armed camp in the world. Four times as much they send to their armies and their Allies abroad. The mighty achievement of our people is only the start. The reverses they have suffered are only the prelude to the battles they mean to win.—London Daily Express.

JOSEPH: AN EXAMPLE OF FORGIVENESS

Golden text: Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving each other, even as God also Christ forgave you. Ephesians 4:32.

Lesson: Genesis 45-50.

Devotional reading: 1 John 4:7-11.

Explanations and Comments

Joseph Discloses His Identity to His Brothers, Genesis 45:1-4. Joseph's emotions overcame him, and he could not refrain from weeping. Standing by weeping Egyptian servants and officers who would not understand his emotions and might even think that their great ruler was demeaning himself by a display of feeling for those foreign shepherds, and therefore he sent them all away. The precaution was futile, however, for when he gave way to his feelings and wept aloud, the Egyptians heard his weeping and it was reported in the house of Pharaoh. Tears can be signs of joy as well as of sorrow. "I am Joseph," he cried. "Can you not picture the astonishment, incredulity and fear upon the brothers' faces as they heard these words? 'Deth, my father yet live?' In a previous interview with them he had been told several times that his father was alive, but he felt the need of again hearing the reassuring words. No wonder the brothers were silent. 'Come near to me, I pray you,' continued Joseph, wishing them to see his face closer at hand. And then he added a bit of information which must have convinced them of his identity, for he alone could have known this fact: 'I am Joseph, your brother whom ye sold into Egypt.'"

God's Purpose in Joseph's Life, Genesis 45:5-8. Joseph wished to save his brothers from grieving or being angry with themselves for their crime of long ago in selling him into slavery in Egypt, and their lines in these four verses he asserts that in reality it was God who had sent him to Egypt, not they. He recognized plainly God's providence. God had brought him into Egypt to make him a savior of life during the years of famine. "This sense of a providence, of a Divine care which watches sleeplessly over the fortunes of the individual and of the nation, is one of the most precious things in the Old Testament."—McClure.

One of our modern sweet young things, after studying for a while, answered, "He gains on the cents but loses on the dollars."

But Small American Planes Reached Brazil Under Own Power

There is a promise of coming events in the disclosure by Colonel Armando Ararigboin, the Brazilian air attaché, of the arrival of 44 small single-engine American airplanes under their own power at Rio de Janeiro, fifty-eight miles away from the Brazilian Air Force base. The four-place cabin monoplanes and 25 primary trainers from the Fairchild factory in Hagerstown, Md., to their goal more than 9,000 miles away without serious variation from schedules set up before departure. This was the largest flyaway delivery of airplanes yet made to South America from the United States. It was necessitated by war conditions. The little planes for the Brazilian Air Force had been going to make the journey in more prosaic fashion. Indeed, they had been crated and delivered to a pier when the submarine menace in the Atlantic caused the change of plan. Returned to the factory, they were reassembled and flown off in groups of six.

In this rapidly evolving era of flight we are beginning to take as a matter of course overnight crossings of the Atlantic by Clipper and journeys of diplomats and rulers between far-flung capitals, such as the visit of Mr. Churchill to Moscow, in big bombers. We will take such distant journeys by air more and more in our stride as the impact of air power, not only on war but on commerce, becomes still more evident. But for small aircraft with a range of not more than 500 miles to make serenely and without major incident the long trek down to Rio lifts the curtain on a day of greatly expanded private flying which seems sure to link world capitals and world markets—New York Times.

MRS. MINIVER

Adapted From The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture
By HALSEY RAINES

CHAPTER IV.

One of the two hobbies of Mr. Ballard had been of necessity suspended: the church bells were to be rung now only as an emergency alarm; Lady Beldon was also going to hold her flower show, however, and the station-master had definitely decided to enter his "Mrs. Miniver" rose in competition against her.

All this he confided to Mrs. Miniver as he met her in the early morning by the hedge near the river's edge. She listened absent-mindedly, and with heavy heart, for there was no news of Clem.

She had left Mr. Ballard, and was proceeding toward the garden, when she stopped short. Protruding from a clump of shrubs were the feet of a man in German aviator's uniform. Mrs. Miniver took a deep breath, and tipped closer. The pilot looked very young; he was asleep and his clothing was torn and stained.

Turning impulsively, Mrs. Miniver began to run. Her foot tripped on a stone and she went sprawling and, as if by magic, she caught her balance. All at once a Teutonic voice called out from behind, like a pistol shot.

Mrs. Miniver looked back; she was covered by the risen aviator's pistol. No one was in sight, and probably no one within earshot.

"Make noise—I shoot!" muttered the German. "Food—drink," he continued.

Mrs. Miniver pointed to the house, and beckoned to him to follow. As she watched, she saw that one arm hung helplessly at his side, and that he walked with effort.

When she reached the doorway, and saw the loss of suspicion in the wounded flier's eyes, Mrs. Miniver told him that her children and the maid were all asleep, upstairs. Her only thought now was to allay his fear until she could make some, however, reach a telephone and give a warning signal. She gave the German some meat, and a bottle of milk. Then he asked for a coat; she located an old one belonging to Clement. As the aviator tried it on, keeping his gun on her, she heard the involuntary cry of pain broke from his tight-clenched lips.

"You need help," said Mrs. Miniver. "Your arm is stiff with blood. You must get to a hospital."

The young German shook his head mutely.

"You'd die out there," continued Mrs. Miniver, gesturing. "You can't escape. They're scouring the woods day and night."

The pilot's only response was a slight, contemptuous twist of his mouth. Finally he turned, and started for the door. He paused, steadied himself against a chair. As he tried to navigate the last ten feet, he stopped, swayed and then crashed headlong, while the gun slipped from his limp hand.

When he regained consciousness Mrs. Miniver, who had phoned the police, was covering him with his own revolver. In response to his appeal, she went to the cupboard and brought out some cognac. She no longer felt frightened or nervous. As she stood facing him, the cut-out signal from an airplane was heard overhead.

Her face lighted up; that was Vin, signalling as he had done once before!

"That's my boy," she said. The German looked at her in surprise. "Did you signal your mother when you got back?" she went on.

"No!" muttered the enemy flier. "We are not safe like that."

A wave of understanding, a sudden cold appraisal of what was being tried into the youth of the Rhineland, of what Clem had tried to tell her, swept over Mrs. Miniver. A minute later two policemen arrived and took their captive into tow.

When Mrs. Miniver heard a mechanical sound down by the river's

SMILE AWHILE

A newly-inducted private wrote his family some few days after he had arrived at camp:

"I've gained 60 pounds since I came here—two pounds of flesh and 58 pounds of equipment."

"I called 'mae' an appointment with the dentist."

"He's out just now."

"Ah, when do you expect him to be out again?"

She (ending a quarrel): "I see how very woman is often called a bird."

He (smartly): "Yes, because they are always on the lookout for crumbs."

She (quietly): "No, because of the worms they pick up."

"I'm wondering what to buy for my wife's birthday."

"Ask her."

"Good heavens, I couldn't afford that!"

There was a pile of stones in the road and a lamp on the top of it. An old fellow was in charge.

"What's this lamp for?"

"So motorists can see the pile of stones."

"But what's the pile of stones for?"

"To put the lamp on, of course."

Young Wife—Leonard is so slovenly. Half the buttons are generally missing from his clothes.

Severe Aunt—Hm. Perhaps they are not sewn on properly.

"That's just it. He's awfully careless about his sewing."

She—You can take me to the dance on the pier tonight if you like, unless (coolly) you meet somebody more attractive in the meantime.

He—I say, that's jolly sporting of you. We'll leave it like that, then, shall we?

"What were those unusual greens we had tonight, cook?"

"You remember, ma'am, you said those geraniums in the garden looked so lovely you could eat them?"

"Yes."

"Well, you have!"

POPULAR GIRL IS SURE OF ETIQUETTE

"Did I Do Something Wrong?"

That ghastly feeling that you've done something wrong, that people are laughing at you (or winking!) may sometimes be perfectly right.

People DO look down on you when you commit some obvious breach of etiquette.

Like walking across a dance-floor alone! After a dance a girl who knows what to do asks her partner to take her back to her friends or wherever she may wish to go.

And a well-bred man, of course, will never leave a girl in the middle of the dance floor—any more than he'd give his order first in a restaurant—or neglect to offer his arm to his girl when crossing a crowded street or getting out of a car.

The popular girl knows her part is to receive such courtesies graciously, not with a crude "Don't bother. That's why she's dated, rushed!"

You could be, too, if you were sure of the rules. Our 32-page booklet tells both girls and men how to
